Trained leaders provide better programs for the young men and women they serve in their units.

Whether teaching knots to a fellow Scout, leading a merit badge class, or leading a district training session, effective techniques must be used in order to present the message in the most effective manner.

This course is designed to help Scouters, regardless of their experience, present effective training. The course will also help those who might have trained for other organizations learn the BSA's training techniques. And, it will help freshen up the skills of current BSA trainers.
